Suncrest, WA

H E A D W A R D S

Suncrest, WA - The median household income in Suncrest is $89,234, with an average household income of $110,037, which is higher than the national average. This suggests a strong economic base and potential for further growth in the housing market.

Furthermore, the local economy in Suncrest is described as quite reasonable, with 2 Bedroom Rent prices at around $1,430, which is significantly lower than the US average. This affordability, coupled with the town's location near Spokane, positions Suncrest as a potential bedroom community and offering residents a more affordable housing option within close proximity to urban amenities.

In summary, Suncrest, Washington, is experiencing a stable and growing housing market, characterized by relatively affordable home prices and rents, a strong local economy, and a growing population.
