THE EASTSIDE INNOVATION CORRIDOR

The Eastside—anchored by Bellevue, Redmond, and Kirkland — has become one of the country’s most dynamic technology corridors. Home to Microsoft’s world headquarters, along with expanding footprints for Amazon, Meta, and Google, the Eastside has transformed into a dense, transit-oriented, and globally competitive innovation hub.

At the center of this growth is Downtown Redmond, where billions of dollars in public and private investment are reshaping the urban core into a walkable, connected, mixed-use destination. With the opening of the Downtown Redmond Link Light Rail Station in 2025, the city is positioned to be one of the most accessible and desirable submarkets on the Eastside.

Downtown Redmond offers both investors and tenants a compelling opportunity within the Eastside’s most dynamic growth market. Companies are drawn to the area’s unparalleled access to transit, highly educated workforce, and vibrant lifestyle amenities, while investors benefit from sustained demand driven by Fortune 500 employers, limited Class A/B supply, and rising market fundamentals. This rare combination positions Downtown Redmond as one of the most desirable and resilient submarkets in the Puget Sound region.

REDMOND GROWTH, DEMOGRAPHICS & EMPLOYMENT

POPULATION & DEMOGRAPHICS

Redmond has experienced 25%+ population growth since 2010, far outpacing King County and national averages. Today, the city is home to 85,000 residents (2024) and continues to expand as new urban housing, mixed-use projects, and transit-oriented developments deliver. Forecasts project double-digit growth over the next decade, supported by strong job creation and an influx of skilled workers.

Redmond's resident base is exceptionally well-educated and affluent, with 70%+ holding a bachelor's degree or higher and a median household income of $160K+—among the very highest in Washington State. This demographic strength translates into robust consumer spending, strong housing demand, and one of the nation's most competitive labor pools.

TECH & EMPLOYMENT HUB

As the global headquarters of Microsoft (55,000 employees), Redmond anchors the Eastside's identity as a world-class technology cluster. The city also hosts Meta Reality Labs (7,000+ employees) and Nintendo of America, along with a growing network of biotech, gaming, and cloud-computing firms.

This concentration of corporate anchors has fostered a deep ecosystem of startups, suppliers, and professional services, making Redmond one of the most innovation-rich cities in the Puget Sound region. With billions invested in Microsoft's multi-year campus modernization and Meta's continued expansion, Redmond is well-positioned for long-term employment growth and rising office demand.
