MARKET OVERVIEW

ABOUT SEATTLE

Seattle is a vibrant coastal metropolis nestled in King County, Washington. As the largest city in both the state and the Pacific Northwest, it boasts a stunning location on Puget Sound with breathtaking views of Lake Washington.

The city's rapid growth has solidified its position as the 15th largest metropolitan area in the United States, with a population of approximately 4.02 million residents.

Known as a global tech hub, Seattle's economy is diverse and robust. The city serves as a major center for trade, finance, and transportation, with the Port of Seattle operating as a crucial gateway to Asia and Alaska. Beyond technology,

Seattle's industries span a wide range, including aerospace, maritime, biotechnology, and renewable energy. The city's rich history as a lumber and fishing town continues to influence its culture and economy.

In the heart of Seattle, right on the border between Yesler Terrace and the Central District, a new urban chapter is unfolding a community where the energy of transformation blends seamlessly with the historic character that defines the city.

150 12th Ave captures that perfect balance. Just steps from downtown and surrounded by projects that are redefining the area, this address sits at the epicenter of Seattle's urban renaissance: vibrant streets, independent cafés, art galleries, coworking spaces, and modern developments that elevate the neighborhood's standard of living.

Living here means more than enjoying a contemporary home with luxury finishes and smart technology it means becoming part of an evolving community where value grows every day.

This enclave is attracting professionals, creatives, and visionaries who seek more than just a place to live they want to be part of the movement transforming the very essence of Seattle's core.

At 150 12th Ave, the present already feels like the future.
