PERMANENT NEW JOBS

Seattle's $806 million Waterfront Seattle Project has reshaped the city's connection to Elliott Bay, creating a world-class public space that links Belltown, Downtown, and the waterfront.

This revitalization includes new parks, cultural attractions, and pedestrian-friendly infrastructure, making it a major draw for residents, businesses, and tourists.

With enhanced walkability, waterfront dining, and year-round public programming, the area has become more vibrant and accessible. The removal of the Alaskan Way Viaduct has opened waterfront views, improved connectivity, and increased urban appeal.

This investment is driving higher foot traffic, tourism, and retail demand, all of which strengthen the multifamily housing market. As Seattle's urban core evolves, the Waterfront Seattle project cements the city as a top-tier destination for living, working, and investing.
